

(on change) Guaranteed in Each Life and Business!

Here's the other kind of change that often seems more useful!!

Change is a constant. This newsletter is about changes here at New Leaf, and it shares a few useful links that may spur changes in your work life.

NEW EMAIL ADDRESS

newleafresumes@gmail.com

Now in my fourth year of business, I am no longer willing to suffer with a business email that is sporadically unreliable (hence my email caveat to "unreliable technology"), has no user-friendly features, and would drive me a bit crazy at times (ask my long-suffering husband!).

New Website Too!

Along with the new email, I will soon be launching a new website that will still be parked at www.newleafresumes.ca. It sports a new look that will eventually be incorporated on all business documents: business card, brochures, handouts, and e-books.

I've also purchased newleafresumes.com, but I've no immediate plans to activate it.

The new website has incredible widgets and applications. My blog will be housed on the site, and the newsletters will arrive from the site as well. Simplification.

Back to the E-books

New Leaf will soon offer e-books for sale through Scrbd.com. The tentative titles are Ace the Interview and Land an Offer, Networking to Work, and Succeeding at Work. Likely that initiative's roll-out is yet a month or two away.

And here are some sites that I've discovered.

To your career success!

How to Use LinkedIn to find a job:

Overcome your inertia, fear, lack of know-how, and use this technology to network.

Pose questions to a career management expert: job developer, career coach, recruiter, outplacement consultant, and many (many!) more. Go to www.careerprocanada.ca and click on Career Forum, Visitors' Area, Ask the Expert. While you're visiting, check out the Career Advice tab.

On the same site, research typical pay for your job title across Canada! Scroll down to the Knowledge Centre, Salary Calculator.

www.Careerjet.ca is a great site for job hunting. It gathers jobs from many sites, by category.

>>>

www.Passporttowork.ca is a one-stop shop for career exploration, job search, education.

>>>

For the young people in your life: hireprospects.org and <http://newgradlife.blogspot.com/>. Share these with the new grads in your family.

Don't forget to update your contact list with the new email address. newleafresumes@gmail.com. I welcome your comments and questions, and encourage you to share my newsletter with someone who might benefit from the links above.

—All the best in your career, Stephanie
